

Please pray for a miracle...

Dear praying friends. I am so embarrassed at how we have neglected to use this prayer group to pass on regular requests. There are so many things we'd love to share...but we have one really urgent request for tomorrow morning(middle of the night for you all in the States).

We have a friend here...let's call her "Calm" as that is what her name means. The way we met her was a very strange and completely God ordained miracle to begin with. We hope to tell you much about her in the future, but for now, please pray for a miracle tomorrow morning for her mother. Her mother is very very old and has been sick for a long time. She sleeps all day and has for months but has just stopped eating. The doctors have told our friend it is her time and she is obviously crushed. Since we met "Calm", I have had a burden to pray that her very elderly mother would come to know J and trust in Him before she leaves this earth. This would be a true miracle. Humanly speaking, there is just no way I can see this happening. I just read Romans 10:13-14 saying everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved. And I am reminded of the thief hanging next to our Lord on the cross believing in his last moments. But as I read the next verse in Romans 10, it said, "How can they call on the One they have not believed in? And how can they believe if they haven't heard? And how can they hear without someone preaching?...and I wanted to add some questions of my own: But how can I preach with so little Arabic? And even if I could, how can she hear when she is asleep on her deathbed? We go to her house tomorrow morning. I don't know what to do or what He wants to do but please pray for her to be saved. And also for my friend "Calm" to see Him with her eyes open. Pray for the Spirit to lead with His power, comfort, wisdom and love. We trust Him. "O for grace to trust Him more."

Thank you friends!
