

Dear friends,

In recent years I have asked God what His purpose is for my life here on earth. I have often struggled as I have tried to do things on my own. I now realize that God has placed wonderful people in my life sharing much love and wisdom with me. Through them and through much prayer, I feel God is calling me into mission work. Because of the grace of God and the circumstances He has placed me in, I have been able to do mission work in New York City, Hungary, and five South American countries. Every South American country, except Brazil, is Spanish speaking, but each country has its own distinct culture.

This past December I had the privilege of spending a month in Ecuador at a friend's home. While there, I had the opportunity to help with several church outreach events. One was going into Quito's dumpster area where we fed the poor who lived in the area and played games with them. Another event was serving as a translator for a team of college nursing students as they reached out to the poor.

While in Ecuador I had the opportunity of learning about an organization called "Youth World" that is in Quito. During the summer months, groups of young people come from America to do mission work in Ecuador. The mission's goal is to interest young people in missions as they reach out to the Ecuadorian people with the gospel. A friend of mine from Ecuador who is a student at Word of Life Argentina works for Youth World. He asked me to apply for an internship as a translator for the summer. I did apply and was accepted. I will be in Ecuador from May 25th – mid August serving as a translator for the various groups of young people who will be doing the summer missions work. With the following link will show you more about Youth World. <http://www.youthworld.org.ec/>

I am in need of $9 00.00 which includes my airline ticket, insurance, and money for basic needs. If you would like to help with these needs, money can be sent to my American parents, Lyle and Joy McAuley. They will send it on to the mission in Ecuador. Make checks payable to Lyle McAuley.

Please pray for me now, and throughout the summer months.
