

Sean (Todd's oldest) and Jennifer Hyde married on December 1st and are now at the NTBI in Waukesha, WI.

Briana (Starr's oldest) and Matt Hamb were married on June 8th and a few days ago moved up to Waukesha to attend the NTBI. Paul had the sweet privilege of "tying the knot" for both of them :) They are a joy to our hearts! Pray please for them as they start life together!

As we watched this second set of grandkids drive out of our driveway a few days ago, I was struck, once again, with the awesome heritage that God has GRACED our family with. I have copies of letters from my Godly great grandmother in Ireland that testify to this! How humbled we are as we consider these things!!!

A Bit of News

The symptoms of the 12 day radiation treatment on Paul's neck are almost gone now. The main thing is his taste buds are "broken" and he'll be glad when they return! :) He sees the doctor for the first time since radiation next week. I've had good results from my last lower back pain shots so we are planning a trip out to California. Frequent flyer miles are allowing us to fly, but it does limit our travels while there. Speaking of "heritage" my mom's side of the family are having a rare family reunion and we plan to attend. I was a teenager the last time I saw some of them!

We will get back in time for the start of our new semester at the Missionary Training Center. There are 46 new students starting this Fall, which will make a total of about 118 students all together in the different stages of the training. We are so privileged to be a part of this. We'd covet your prayers as we travel!

Again, we thank you for your partnership, your friendship, your prayers and your support! My grandfather had an orphanage that he named "Faith Home for Boys" and he told of the miracles God performed to keep food on the table. We also have those stories, and you, dear friends are a part of them. We realize that as our grandchildren branch out into their futures that God has planned for them --- they also will have their mighty stories of God's miracles in their lives.

God bless you ABUNDANTLY!

Paul and Faith Wyma
