Thanks to all of you for your prayers! The procedure (that took less than an hour) went very well and the Dr. put in one impressively long stent on the main artery in the heart. He's had to lay flat on his back without raising his head or moving for eight hours today, which has been about the hardest part of it. We are so VERY thankful and we recognize the amazing, wonderful grace of God!!! Thank you for all the sweet, encouraging notes --- I wish I could write back to each one! How very blessed we are to be surrounded by such an awesome family of friends! That "goofy grin" turned into a lopsided smile with slightly crossed eyes this morning as he was wheeled out☺.

Resting in our Lord!
